MAINE.

Fuller advices from Maine show that the Union Republicans of that noble State have achieved a victory surpassing anything ever before known. They did well in years past, but the enormous gains of this year surpass the most sanguine hopes. 'My Policy" is not very popular there.

A desperate effort was made by the President and his mongrel party to carry the rat district, where parties were more evenly divided than in any other. Government patronage was freely used, and with all the skill known to expert politicians; but to no purpose; for the Republican gains are larger in that than in any other district.

THE FREEDMEN.

We invite attention to the report of Rev. JOSEPH S. TRAVELLI, General Agent of the Freedmen's Aid Commission of Western Pennsylvania; and in order to give some idea of the good work going on among the freedmen under the auspices of this noble association, we subjoin a brief extract from a letter from the Principal of the Schools of Stevenson, Alabama, dated September 8. He says:

"As to the general improvement and progress of the school, I am happy to state that I have never seen it surpassed. While the advancement in reading, writing and geography has been unusual, I am now convinced, from the past three months' experience, the scientific understanding of arithmetic of these pupils is a refutation of the common idea that colored people cannot master that branch of study.

"The schools here have kept up a remarkable interest during the summer in point of numbers, as you will see by my reports. Also, I may safely say that I never saw pupils take more interest in their studies, or learn faster.

"JAMES NICHOLS."

Mr. NICHOLS is a one-armed soldier, and an excellent and efficient man.

WHEN the President talks about "traitors in the North," and that he has come out to "fight" them, as he expresses it, he means primarily the radical members of Congress, such as our MOORHEAD and WILLIAMS, who represent us in the present Congress, are in nomination for the next, and who will be re-elected just as sure as they live. To call them traitors, therefore, is to put in the same category every man who has voted for them and intends to do so again. Such talk, coming from a responsible quarter, would be grossly insulting; but as the man seems to have fallen below that point where people are held to accountability, it is not worth while to get into a bad humor about his utterances. Very likely he may talk here in Pittsburgh about fighting northern traitors; but if so, let him talk; for the more he talks the less capability he will have for future mischief. He will not be able to bully Congress after this tour. We hope Pittsburgh, the Gibralter of Radicalism, will show that its good humor is as imperturbable as its political principles.

WHEN the President and the rebels denounce Mr. STEVENS and the Radicals the Conservatives are intensely delighted; and shout for more of the same sort. Evidently they are blinder than bats to the game they are playing. Let the Richmond Examiner enlighten them. It says:

"Let us get a controlling voice in the Government and then we have but to ask and we shall receive. When we have routed Thad. Stevens, then let us, if we choose, settle any small differences we may have with Senator Doolittle and the National Union party."

If the rebels shall succeed in disposing, satisfactorily to themselves, of Mr. STEVENS and the Radicals, they will speedily settle accounts with Mr. COWAN and the Conservatives.

At Cincinnati the Fusionists are having anything but "a happy time." Indeed, they might more properly be designated Confusionists. No sooner had they perfected their bargains among themselves, apportioned the spoil, and nominated the men who were to enjoy them, than a mutiny broke out in the democratic ranks apparently involving the bulk of the rank and file. A new journal, entitled the "South and West," was started, which fires away in the sauciest manner conceivable at SEWARD, BLAIR, WEED, RAYMOND, RANDALL, ORR, and that whole set. The result foreshadowed is the speedy and complete smashing of the Fusion machine. So perish all dissemblers.

THERE was a time when every Democrat and conservative said all manner of evil of Mr. BEECHER, because, being a clergyman, he "meddled with politics." Recently, these same men have become charmed of him; and, strange enough, because he has again dipped into politics. Before he was against them; now for them; and this makes all the difference in their bearing towards him. This is only one illustration among hundreds. It is safe, therefore, to conclude that when these people denounce the association of "Politics and the Pulpit," they are simply playing the part of hypocrites. They like clerical politicians, but only when they take sides with them.

THE President during his tour, has done much by the coarseness of his manner and the intemperance of his language, to inflame personal hatreds and partisan animosities—to disgrace himself, and to bring popular institutions into contempt. It is altogether desirable that during his stay in this city he be allowed to monopolize all the blackguardism and abuse exhibited.

MR. COWAN seems to have fallen all at once from his high estate. Awhile ago he was a great gun at mass meetings. He has suddenly subsided into a school-house talker. There seems to be no demand for his presence in "the great congregations," and he is compelled to exercise his oratorical gifts on a half dozen men at a time at the crossroads.

S. B. ROW, Esq., a faithful and efficient Postoffice Detective, has been removed from office, because he holds fast to his integrity as a true Republican. Mr. ROW was formerly an editor in Clearfield, Pa., and did good service in building up the party that saved the country by the sword, and are now going to keep it safe by their votes.

Spread the Truth!
Some medical men insist that it is undignified to advertise a remedy, however valuable it may be. Queer reasoning this. It is like saying that an article which the world needs should be hid in a corner—that benefits and blessings may be too widely diffused—that the means of protecting and restoring health would be a close monopoly and not accessible to all. The argument is bad. It is worse than that: it is inhuman. Suppose HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—an absolute specific for dyspepsia, biliousness and nervous disability—had never been known beyond the repertoire of the faculty, what would have been the consequence? Instead of curing and invigorating millions, the good effects of the preparation would have been confined to a comparative few. There is the highest authority for saying that light should not be hid under a bushel; that whatever is excellent should be placed as a city on a hill, where all men can take cognizance of it. It is upon this principle that the BITTERS have been advertised and continued to be advertised in every newspaper of any prominence in the western hemisphere, and that the spontaneous testimonials in its favor have been translated into the different languages. Thousands enjoy perfect health today who would be languishing on beds of sickness if the newspapers had not spread the truth with respect to the best, most prompt and corrective far and wide. Suppose profit has been reaped from this publicity. Is that any argument against it? If the public health has been protected, if the dyspeptic digestive and nervous forces have been strengthened and the sick restored, great good has been accomplished; and who on earth has a right to regard it as extortion if we thus directed their fair reward?

Attempted Suicide.

Simon Welsh, a German thirty-five years of age, residing in Strawberry alley, above Smithfield street, attempted to commit suicide last night at ten and a half o'clock, by shooting himself through the head with a small pocket pistol. The ball entered the right side of the head, above and behind the ear, and lodged inside the skull. Dr. Donnelly, of Grant street, was called in and examined the patient. He found it impossible to extract the ball, and pronounced the wound mortal. Welsh is a married man. He has been for some time addicted to excessive drinking, which is supposed to have been the cause of his rash attempt.

An Exciting Chase.—On Monday, Mrs. Mary Birch, who keeps a boarding house on Washington street, made information before the Mayor charging J. H. Bane with obtaining board under false pretense. The accused kept out of the way until yesterday afternoon, when officer Busier, who held the warrant for his arrest, espied him on Hand street. He went up to the victim, when the latter started on a keen run down the street. He fled, closely followed by the officer, to Diamond alley, down Diamond alley to Market street, and was overhauled at Fleming's drug store and conveyed to the lock-up. During the progress of the race a great crowd was drawn into the pursuit, and no small excitement was occasioned.

Severe Fall.—George Plowman, an English boy fifteen years of age, employed at W. S. Haven's printing office, No. 84 Third street, was at work in the second story of the building yesterday, and fell through a hole in the floor, to the floor of the first story. By the fall he discovered one his wrists and cut his chin to the bone. He was taken to his home in the seventh ward, where he received proper medical attendance. He came from Bath, England, and has been here but a short time.

Runaway.—Two horses attached to a milk wagon, which had been left standing by the proprietor, yesterday took fright and started down Penn, from Union Republican ranks to the opposite corner, where they brought up with considerable energy against a lamp post, one of the horses receiving a severe cut on the head. The wagon was also badly damaged.

THE CAMPAIGN IN BEAVER COUNTY.

GRAND MASS MEETING.

Speeches of Gov. Curtin, Hon. W. B. Mann, Col. Blackman, Thomas M. Marshall, and Others.

PROCESSION, INCIDENTS, &c.

The Grand Union Republican Mass Convention, held at Beaver yesterday, was decidedly one of the most successful political gatherings ever assembled in this section of the State. Although the weather was by no means favorable, as a drizzling rain fell at intervals from early morn till night, the people lost none of their wonted ardor and enthusiasm, but turned out in their full might. At ten o'clock, Governor Curtin was formally received at the Rochester Depot, and escorted to Beaver. The loyal clans from Falston, Belestown, Bridgewater, Brighton, Sharon, Rochester and the other innumerable boroughs and townships of Beaver County, commenced to assemble at eleven o'clock, and at twelve were ready to march. Quite a large delegation of citizens from this city were present in an unofficial capacity and officiated at the meetings. Business was almost entirely suspended in Rochester, Bridgewater and Beaver, and all those towns wore an unusual appearance of gaiety and festivity. Houses were literally covered with flags, arches were made and wreaths and festoons displayed upon many of the private and public houses of the townships.

THE PROCESSION.

The procession numbered between four and five thousand citizens, all of whom were either mounted upon horses or in wagons. We regret that our space will not permit us to enter into detail in describing the many fine and novel features of the procession. It will suffice to say that the designs were very tasteful and that the procession equalled in point of appearance any we have ever seen.

THE ORGANIZATION.

Arriving at the County Fair Grounds where the Convention was held, the meeting at once organized by the election of the following officers:

President—Ross Forward.

Vice Presidents—Jacob Shaffer, A. G. Berry, Sam. McMasters, Christian Bestler, Sr., H. J. Metz, Samuel Rogers, James Johnston, James Patterson, William [illegible], Sam. Bialy, S. G. Caughey, Dr. Benjamin Todd, Richard Eakin, [illegible], J. R. Mohler, J. A. Fleming, [illegible], Milton Townsend, G. C. [illegible].

Secretaries—H. W. Wilson, [illegible].

The President upon assuming the chair made the following address, in response to the committee announcing his election, and thanking him for the honor conferred upon him, and returning his thanks to the Beaver county people for the kind reception given to the Union delegation from Pittsburgh:

[illegible] In politics there are seldom any incidents which start the heart to [illegible] Governor Curtin, [illegible] follow [illegible] figure in one of those political and [illegible] Two little orphan girls, [illegible] whose heads [illegible] passed, walking [illegible] portrait, intercepted [illegible] piece of our country with [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] with their heads [illegible] beautiful wreath of [illegible] Governor looked with tears in his eyes, and with a faltering but manly [illegible] said: "I am proud as a soldier of the republic to [illegible] the friend and defender of the orphan children of the brave defenders of our country who died that freedom might live. God will not forget you since you have not forgotten us." She then [illegible] the two little girls, and [illegible] Governor, and as he bowed his head large tears trickled down his cheeks, and his frame shook with emotion. The great man kneeling at the feet of the orphan children of the brave, to receive this simple crown of honor, prepared out of gratitude for him, was a picture never before witnessed by those who were present, and the only one excepted in many years. [illegible] to offer his profound thanks to the "Soldiers' Orphans' schools established. That Geary to send his wand in that respect. He has been in the army fighting side by side with the poor little orphans [illegible] and he was trusted, while his opponent threw every obstacle in the way of Union soldiers during the rebellion, and should not be trusted. Cheers.] [illegible] said he was [illegible] a prophet's son, but he was a politician, soldier and [illegible] and could safely predict the defeat of Clymer and election of Geary by an overwhelming majority. Applause.] He would utter in thundering tones, which will be understood throughout our country, that Pennsylvania stands by the soldiers and the freedom of the world.

The Governor concluded his speech by referring to the other gubernatorial who were present to address the audience. He retired amidst the wildest of enthusiasm.

SPEECH OF MR. MANN.

The next speaker introduced was Hon. Wm. R. Mann, of Philadelphia. He commenced by saying that he felt a diffidence in addressing the very intelligent and thoughtful audience before him, as all had probably considered the questions of the day as much as he had done. It was different in Philadelphia. There a vote of ninety thousand is polled, and the majority is very trifling. If the people there were as thoroughly aroused to their interests and animated by the same feeling which lives in your hearts, a majority of forty-five thousand would certainly be rolled up in the cause of the Union. When the speaker returns home, he said, he would tell the people how their fellow citizens of the west are animated. He would exhort them to renewed activity. In Philadelphia, like all the great cities of the Commonwealth, the sentiment in the Union ranks is occasionally disturbed by the [illegible] caused by parties, hiding on using offices. The whole performance of the Government is brought into requisition to force men into the Union Republican ranks. But here, with the number of offices to be given out, we have the number of deserters to be obtained; no more, as many emigrate from principle as from any other cause. Cowardice who abandons principle for pay can truthfully say that he believes Johnson to be right. Johnson has done nothing to stand by the people who elected him. He has [illegible] upon the people by the vilest rebellion, and asked if they should not be represented. [illegible] representatives [illegible] of the South, [illegible] right to prescribe under what conditions the rebels should again be restored to power in the Union.

The speaker had never known how well Congress represented the people until he came to Western Pennsylvania. We are proscribed because we will not give the government back into the hands of traitors. Our people look to us to persevere in our duty for we cannot give back the patriots who fell in battle, nor supply the vacant chair, nor cause happiness to reign in the family which lost its pride on the battle-field. We can do none of these things for our constituents, and why should we forget all of the past. If all is forgotten and things are to be as they were, Jeff. Davis might be again placed in the cabinet. Lee in our Union army and even Buchanan placed in the presidential chair to betray us again. (Cheers.) There is an impassable barrier that people never can get over between patriots and traitors; if they could, all the blood shed during the rebellion would have been shed in vain. (Cheers.) We are told peace is restored, why waste time? Our fathers took seven years from 1783 to 1790 wondering, thinking, talking, fixing, planning and arranging, to satisfactorily arrange a plan of representation for their Southern brethern. When they did arrange it, they made the basis three to five population. They were friends. Had forgot. Together and bled together in the same cause, and yet the representations are thus compromised. Now the men who have invaded and pillaged our towns, murdered our fathers and brothers, come [illegible] with blood stained hands and demand better terms than our fathers allowed them. They have lost all and are not entitled to [illegible] which saved that much a unanimous people chose to accord them. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the intelligence of the people of Pennsylvania and felt that they would not be remiss in duty at the proper time, but administer one of their famous rebukes to treason by the election of Gen. John W. Geary.

Col. BLACKMAN'S SPEECH.

Col. Blackman was then introduced. He said the next meeting announced. He said that on the 4th day of February last, President Johnson and his party [illegible] the [illegible] sword and [illegible] it. He [illegible] people to tremble. The speaker was one of that ground amid [illegible] Vermont and Maine who [illegible] anxiously to [illegible] Gov. Curtin. He [illegible] Mr. Curtin of the ground swell which the people of New England sends rolling from Maine to Maine; the cause which [illegible] Curtin [illegible] now [illegible] of the [illegible] to [illegible] upon the people of Pennsylvania. [illegible] Upon the result depends the preservation of our Union. [illegible] We are in the midst of a revolution. [illegible] We are in the midst of a revolution. [illegible] We are in the midst of a revolution

THE POPULAR JUDGMENT.

Maine has spoken, following hard after Vermont. There is no diminution of the Republican majorities. On the contrary there is a large increase. For every Republican who has sold himself to the President for office, or the hope of office, ten Democrats have taken their places in the Union ranks, resolving that the fruits of victory shall not be gathered by defeated rebels, and that the Union shall be re-organized according to the demands of public justice, and on such principles as shall make treason odious, thereby furnishing strong guarantees for future concord and lasting peace. So much for the perambulatory harangues of the President. He has not succeeded in making the people believe the men who stood like a wall of adamant around the government through all the dark and bloody days of the war, are after all disloyal. He has gained no evidence for his vile calumny, that the Republican leaders, because they refuse to submit to his behests, are traitors to the Flag and the Constitution. He has frightened no one by the furious menace that as the rebels were put down by force of arms, in like manner should the Republican leaders be put down. So far from it he has aroused a feeling of scorn and indignation which he and his supporters cannot resist, and which it will be well for them not to trifle with. The loyalists laid three hundred thousand lives on the altar of sacrifice. They are willing to lay three hundred thousand more; but they will not be defrauded of the great ends for which they struggled, and they cannot be intimidated.

The next States to speak are Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. The two voices, already heard from the East, may be taken as clear prophecies of what these three States will utter. The mind of Pennsylvania has never been in doubt. Her judgment, matured by trial and suffering, is fully made up, and when she shall speak in October, the President, and all who, in concert with him, are plotting, under specious pretences, the surrender of the government into the hands of Southern rebels and Northern sympathizers with them, will stand abashed and confounded. Nor has there been, nor is there now, any uncertainty concerning Ohio. Heroic through out the war, marvellous in endurance as in patriotism, she entertains no thought of reversing arms in the hour of triumph and allowing the vanquished to gather all the trophies of the field. A month ago Indiana was in doubt. The best informed Republicans were alarmed. A strong disposition was evinced in their ranks to follow the deluding reign of the Administration. President Johnson has not only checked that tendency, but created a new one in the opposite direction. No wavering is observable now along the line. An auspicious result is certain. These great central States are unitedly gathering voice, and anon their tones of loyal cheer will fill all the valleys, and sweep, wave after wave, over the mountain tops.

PRESIDENTIAL ADVENT.

Andrew Johnson and suite are announced to arrive in this city on Thursday evening. There will doubtless be a large crowd to see and hear. We sincerely hope there will be no attempt to disturb the harmony of the arrangements made for the reception—that Mr. Johnson will be permitted in this city as generally elsewhere, to wrap around himself an additional fold of the cerements of the dead, so that he may pass to his political sarcophagus without interference, at Pittsburgh, with his obsequies.

We know if a northern Republican should attempt, in a Southern city, to defend the Congress of the People against the aspersions of Mr. Johnson he would be silenced, perhaps lynched by the constituency of whose persistant rebellion the President is now the distinguished apologist. Nevertheless we were sorry to read of the manifestation of popular disgust at Indianapolis. We do not complain that the disgust was felt. That could not be helped, and had ample provocation. We only object to any manifestation of it on the occasion of Mr. Johnson's reception. Let his friends take their dose of his egotism and ribaldry, as in a sick room, in quietude and peace. For the share of this reception assumed by certain whilom republicans we prescribe "Sawyer's Erasive;" for the nausea of the President's forthcoming speech try "Scaly's Preventive."

THE POWER OF CONGRESS.

In the case of Luther against Borden, given in 7 How., U. S. Reports, p. 1, (which arose out of the "Dorr war" in Rhode Island) the Supreme Court held that, under the fourth section of the Constitution, providing that the United States should guarantee to every State a Republican form of government, &c.

"It rests with Congress to decide what government is the established one in the State. For as the United States guarantees to each State a republican form of government, Congress must necessarily decide what government is established before it can determine whether it is republican or not. And when the Senators and Representatives are admitted into the councils of the Union, the authority of the Government under which they are appointed, as well as its republican character, is recognized by the supreme constitutional authority, that its decision is binding on every other department of the Government, and could not be questioned in a judicial tribunal."

That is the Constitution as expounded by the tribunal whose decisions are equally binding on the President as on the people. When Mr. Johnson, during his speech here, gets to his customary point of handing over the Constitution to the protection of his hearers, we suggest that he may pass to his political sarcophagus without interference, with his obsequies.

THE PRESIDENT AND HIS PROMISES.

Every man of sense, not under the control of a dominating obstinacy, changes his opinions and modifies his measures as he acquires fuller knowledge and as the surrounding exigencies alter. Andrew Johnson is going up and down the country proclaiming that he has never changed, and demanding to be told what promises that he ever made he has failed to redeem. There is an air of mingled insincerity and insolence in his protestations on this head, which excite only contempt and disgust in the minds of all men of understanding. No man has been more profuse than he of his promises; and no man when the hour for performance arrived has so totally failed to make good his pledges.

We do not deny the right of this man to shift his ground in view of attending circumstances and ampler disclosures. When he or any other public man notoriously breaks away from all the professions he ever made, from all the promises and commitments upon which he gained the confidence of multitudes, and was by them elected to a position of the highest influence and responsibility; it is only adding insult to injury for him to clothe his countenance in brass and stoutly declare he has stood his ground and maintained his integrity, while they have all changed and are in pursuit of purposes never before contemplated, at variance with the laws, and inimical to the welfare of society. In assuming such an attitude, he virtually makes a public confession that even in his own consciousness his conduct is inexcusable, and that the only resource remaining is in the most unblushing effrontery.

Andrew Johnson knows, as all the civilized world know, that he has redeemed not one of his pledges; that he has broken away from all the honorable engagements upon which he obtained the suffrages of the Union party; that he is putting the power delegated to him to a use never contemplated by those from whom he received it; that he is in league with the rebels; and that the inevitable tendency of his efforts is to restore them to the seats of power which they forfeited by their crimes; to make loyalty odious and treason honorable.

A foreigner, from France, traveling in this country, writes as follows:

"The other fact to which I wish to allude is the native impoliteness of some American females. I saw two or three young ladies at the dinner table with their hats on. Not that it makes any particular difference, practically, in these days, whether a lady's hat is on or off; but the principle is the same, and I cannot see why a lady should be permitted to violate a rule of common social courtesy, any more than a gentleman.

"I have noticed the same impropriety at Niagara Falls, Saratoga, at Trenton Falls, and at their hotels in New York, and never without a sense of the defective education and associations of many of the examples of American ladyhood."

It is a hard task for a man to divest himself of the notion that the particular manners in which he was educated have not their foundation in the nature and relations of things. To conceive of them as mere conventionalities, which may be continued or rejected by consent, shocks his sense of self-complacency. Hence, such criticisms as that given above.

It is the custom of courts for men to uncover their heads in the presence of royalty. William Penn approached his monarch with his hat on. He violated a conventionality—but no politer man ever paid respects to a King.

In most places of Christian worship women sit with their hats on, while men put their's off. But in Quaker meeting-houses men worship with their hats on; and they feel as high a sense of reverence as men of any other persuasion.

In the Congress of the United States, the members put off their hats when order is called. In the British Parliament the men deliberate with their hats on.

It is natural for a Frenchman to elevate a rule of Paris social life, into a universal law, but he can hardly expect so narrow a judgment will be generally accepted as just and good.

[From the Louisville Democrat, September 7.]

We were yesterday informed of a case which will form a rich subject for the scandal-mongers for some time to come; and, without attempting the sensational, will gave the facts in the case as related to us, which are these: A young man, whom we shall call Mr. A., had for some time paid his attentions to Miss B., in Indiana, and vows of love had been exchanged between the two, she promising to become the wife of Mr. A., whom she had too well but not wisely loved. The parents of the young lady objected to the match, and an elopement was planned. The two parties arrived here some time since, and put up at a fashionable boarding house, in the lower portion of the city, on Green street. The young man upon arriving here, started out after reaching the boarding house to make the proper arrangements for the nuptials.

At night he returned and informed the unsuspecting girl that, according to the law of this State, he could not obtain a license until the following day, and at the same time made improper proposals to her, saying that as they were going to be married the following day no harm could result. To these propositions she indignantly refused to listen.

The proposals were refused on two or three occasions. At last, after the party had been here some three or four days, and the villain persisted in his infamous proposals, she a few days since invited him into the parlor of the boarding house where they were stopping. She then demanded of him to know his intentions, stating that she had left home and all to cast her fortunes with him. She loved him, but would not listen to any improper proposals, and demanded that he should do as he promised, which he refused. She then, after locking the door of the parlor, drew from under her dress a raw hide, and gave the young gentle looking man, who was but a "wolf in sheep's clothing," a most perfect thrashing. The affair created considerable excitement in the boarding house where it occurred. For the sake of the young lady and her friends we omit the names of the parties.

Dr. B. C. Perry's new preparation, Moth and Freckle Lotion, is attracting attention, not only with the people, but the druggists, which is not singular, considering the Doctor's well known reputation as a Dermatologist. There are many preparations for sale for which a great deal is claimed, but of which most are failures, so much so that very few believe that any preparation will effectually remove moth or freckles. Thus far Dr. Perry's Lotion has met with success and favor. If the article is all the Doctor claims for it, it should be generally known. We cannot speak from personal experience, but will say the Doctor's professional reputation, and his great success in treating skin diseases, and loss of hair, entitles his preparations to the confidence of the public. Sold by all druggists.—N. Y. Dispatch.

—Dry earth, sprinkled over the contents of a vault, is said to be a good deodorizer. The top soil, exposed to the sun, or dry loam, sprinkled or shoveled on the contents of a privy every day or two, will prevent the exhalation of offensive odors, and vastly increase the value of the contents as a fertilizer.

—Ralph Hill, 91 years old, a resident of Forrest county, Pa., passed through Corry recently, on his way to Boston, to find friends he has not seen for fifty years. He never saw a steamboat nor a train of cars until last week, and has lived ten miles from any neighbor for the last fifty years.

—A coarse, ill natured fellow, died one day, and his friends assembled at his funeral, but not one had a good word to say about the deceased. Even at the grave all were silent. At length a good hearted fellow, as he turned away from the grave, said, "Well, he was a good subscriber!"

(ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON FIRST PAGE.)

The County Agricultural Fair—Meeting of the Managers.

Preparations for the forthcoming annual exhibition of the Allegheny County Agricultural Society, at Iron City Park, are progressing very rapidly and in the most satisfactory manner. The Park, admirable as were its arrangements last year, is being greatly improved for the exhibition of this season. The preparations for last year were made in haste, and as a necessary consequence much crudeness was observable in the condition of things. This will hardly be the case this year. The Committee of Arrangements have been actively and judiciously busy, and the results of their labors are manifest on every hand.

Domestic Hall, which every visitor at last year's fair remembers most pleasantly, has been enlarged to double its former capacity, and the "internal arrangements" have been modified, improved and augmented. It will be remembered that last autumn the one great fault of this building was want of room; and an uncomfortable crowding as a consequence. This difficulty is wholly obviated by the present arrangement.

The stalls for stock have also been increased to nearly double their former capacity, and greatly improved in style. Applications for positions by prospective exhibitors are being received in great numbers daily, and many of the stalls are already engaged. A new and very handsome poultry house has been built to replace the somewhat meagre accommodations of last year, and the new sheep fold, just completed, is probably the finest ever built on any exhibition ground in this part of the country.

The race track—a source of so much gratification last autumn—has also received very material improvements, having its grade changed to a considerable extent. About four feet have been graded off the upper side of the track, and the earth so removed placed on the lower side, making a difference in the former grade of about six and a half feet. This change is one that will be readily appreciated by sporting men.

The new machine shop is completed, and is now awaiting the arrival of the machinery, which will probably be placed in it during the present week. A new well has been dug in northeast corner. This makes five wells altogether on the grounds, and an ample supply of water is thus assured.

Yesterday a handsome flag-pole was erected. The pole is one hundred and twenty feet high from the ground to the peak where the streamer flies. The flag itself is twenty-four feet in length.

The buildings have all been newly whitewashed, and are white as white can be, presenting a very handsome appearance. The dead wood has all been removed from the grounds, only the live timber being left standing. All the rubbish has been cleared away, and the grounds are as neat as a well kept lawn. We may as well mention here that a business office is to be built near the machine shop. This will prove of almost incalculable benefit to all parties.

The Board of Managers met yesterday, according to adjournment. The members present were: Messrs Chess, McElvy, Morton, Espy, Hill, Verner, Young, Grey, Hodgson and Parke. Mr. J. W. E. Parke was chosen Secretary pro tem.

The Chairman stated the object of the present meeting to be to consider the preparations already made for the fair, and consider what others were necessary.

On motion Messrs. Verner, Hill and Parke, were appointed a Committee on police regulations with power to act.

The Chairman of the delegation to visit the Agricultural College, was absent, and Mr. Grey made an informal report. He asked time to convene the deegation that their formal report might be made out.

It was decided that the place of entrance for all vehicles during the exhibition, should be at the East gate, and the place of exit at the North west gate.

The remainder of the session was devoted to the consideration of improvements noted above. The Board adjourned to meet on Friday morning next, at 10 o'clock.

Another Man Attacked by a Dog.

Mr. Alex Murray, keeper of the Constitution Saloon, on Market alley, owns a large bull dog. When not irritated the dog is of excellent temper, and will even endure much teasing without resentment. On Monday night, however, a man named McTighe entered the saloon and the dog was standing near the door. McTighe thought he would "have some fun," and commenced teasing the dog, pushing him roughly about with his foot. The dog backed off and endeavored to get out of the way. His tormentor followed shuffling at him and pushing him with his foot. At last the dog became thoroughly exasperated and flew at McTighe, seizing him by his heel and holding tenaciously on, in spite of all efforts to loosen his grasp. At last, after lacerating the muscles and tendons of the heel considerably, the animal loosened his hold, and Mr. McTighe received necessary attention. He was found to be painfully, but not seriously injured, and was better yesterday. We understand. He was removed to his home near Mosier's tavern, in the Fourth ward, and will probably meditate some little time before getting into another frolic with a bull dog.

We understand he proposes to commence litigation against Mr. Murray before the Mayor, on the charge of keeping a ferocious dog.

Although the dog has a good character for gentleness, his owner kept him in the back yard until one night in the early part of the summer. On that night Mr. Murray had about eight hundred dollars in the house, staked on the inte. national sculling match. During the night he heard a noise at the locked door of the saloon, and, on going to the yard some person turning the knob and endeavoring to open the door. He arose silently, but in crossing the room for his revolver locked over a chair. He then heard some party in the hall retreating hastily towards the back window, and on investigating, could find no trace of any person. Since that night Mr. Murray has given his dog the free run of the house after a certain hour of the night.

A Nuisance and a Gross Wrong.

The aqueduct of the Pennsylvania canal, across the Allegheny river, between this and the city of Allegheny, was demolished several years ago, and the piers removed from time to time as the stone was needed. But where each pier stood, one or two ranges of heavy stone, together with a confused mass of rubbish, some three feet high, have been left. The consequence is that there is a range of as dangerous and annoying obstructions to navigation as can well be conceived, upon which rafts and boats are frequently stranded, thus causing vexatious delay, loss of time and money, severe labor and the most provoking annoyance. It is the business of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the proprietors of the canal and of these relics, we believe, to abate this nuisance, and we trust that it will be attended to at once. We invite the attention of the Grand Jury to this matter. A large timber raft was stranded upon one of these obstructions yesterday morning.

Threatened to Cut Her Heart.

James McCloskey was before Alderman Lynch yesterday charged with surety of the peace, on oath of Mrs. Manlin. The defendant occupies a suite of rooms in Mrs. Manlin's house, on the corner of Wylie and High streets, and some difficulty springing up between himself and the proprietress, he took the opportunity to tell her he would cut her heart out. As the lady believed this article to be a prominent part of her composition, and being exceedingly desirous of retaining it, she thought it advisable to have James bound in three hundred dollars to prevent him from carrying the heartless threat into execution. McCloskey was placed under the restrictions asked for, and the matter was settled.

Significant—Very!

The platform being erected in front of the St. Charles Hotel, from which Andrew Johnson is expected to "speak his piece," is, as we learn, the identical one from which Herschel V. Johnston (now an ardent admirer of Johnson without the J) in 1860 harangued his fellow Democrats, and spoke of our Pittsburgh laboring men as "white mudsills of the North."

It is fitting and significant that Andrew Johnson should again use it to extol "My Policy," the effects of which would be certainly and surely to make every laboring man in Pittsburgh a "white mudsill" in truth and in fact. We advise them and all our friends to stand from under it, and give it a wide berth, as it is a dangerous platform to be on or under.

Charged With Larceny.

Michael Crater was arrested and brought before Alderman Taylor, yesterday, charged with the larceny of a vest containing a pocket knife, a pearl comb and thirteen dollars in currency, from the tavern of John Carmichael, Kelly's Station ward. After a hearing the accused was discharged, the evidence being of such a character as to leave strong doubts in the mind of the Magistrate that any theft had been committed. Crater is a glass-blower, and is employed in the Glass works in Birmingham. He has hitherto borne an excellent reputation for probity and honor.

An Oration Stopped.

John Knox was very drunk yesterday, and imaging himself gifted with the oratorical powers of the Demosthenes, he mounted a porch on the corner of Locust and Magee streets, in the Eighth ward, and began pouring a volley of abusive epithets on a neighbor named Kelly. The oration was terminated by the arrival of a pair of special police, who took John in custody and conveyed him to the tombs. By the way, John claims to be a near relative of his name sake, the great Scotch Reformer.

"Notice."

It is contrary to our rule to admit business notices to our local columns except on the payment of twenty cents a line. But we make an exception in favor of the following, which is posted on a store door at a little railway station in Westmoreland county:

"Notice that is free good milks cows one heffer fore fatte hogges And som Pouletry to Be Soulde By James Baxter laughlins hill Westmoreland county."

We call on Baxter the benefit of an exact copy of his notice.

Witnesses.

James Shields was arraigned before Mayor McCarthy yesterday on a charge of assault and battery, preferred against him on oath of Hugh Hagan. After a partial hearing the suit was withdrawn by the prosecutor, the defendant paying the costs.

Mary Dearis made a similar charge against Francis Joseph Hawkey, which was similarly disposed of.

Held for a Hearing.

Patrick Martin appeared before Alderman Lynch yesterday and made oath against Edward Montague for assault and battery. The accused was arrested and held in three hundred dollars for a hearing today.

Paving.

There has been more paving done by the city during the last summer than for ten years previous.

Special Cautions.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has become so popular that various parties have put out actions calling them Mrs. Winslow's. Be careful to observe that Mrs. Winslow of the Soothing Syrup is not connected with any other article.

EARLY TELEGRAMS.

New Orleans Riots—Report of General Baird.

NEW YORK, September 11.—The official report of Major General Baird on the New Orleans riot is printed in the Tribune this morning. It is lengthy, containing his official correspondence with Mayor Monroe, Secretary Stanton and Lieutenant Governor Voorhees, and details the events of the riot as already published. He says there was no hour during the continuance of the riot when perfect order could not have been restored by a command to the police from its chief, to put up their pistols.

The Fenian Congress at Troy.

NEW YORK, September 11.—The Herald's special says the closing hours in the Fenian Congress, at Troy, were passed mainly in the discussion of political matters. The question was upon the rendering of the Fenian vote to the radicals for a consideration, but it ended only in the passage of a vote of thanks to General Banks for the passage of the bill to repeal the neutrality laws. Resolutions were passed directing the Senate, in case of being unable to recover the arms confiscated by the United States Government, to apply direct to President Johnson for them.

New York Cholera Report.

NEW YORK, September 11.—Notwithstanding the mildness of the weather yesterday, the cholera has increased. There were sixteen new cases and eleven deaths reported. The report of last week showed a total of 656 deaths in this city, of which fifty were from cholera. In Brooklyn the cholera is fast disappearing, only two fresh cases occurring there yesterday. During the last week there were 250 deaths in that city, of which twenty-seven were from cholera.

Gold Disbursements by the Treasurer.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—A Washington special says: The disbursements of gold by the Treasury since the date of the statement of the 1st instant, have been about five million dollars, of which four and one half million was for interest on ten-forty bonds. The receipts of gold have been in excess of this, and the Treasury now holds eighty millions, of which sixty-three million belong absolutely to the Government, the balance being represented by gold certificates.

Presidential Party at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, September 11.—The City Council refused by a vote of eighteen to six to tender the hospitalities of the city to the Presidential party.

A meeting of the prominent citizens, held at the Chamber of Commerce last night, resolved to tender a public reception to the distinguished visitors, and a committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

From Canada—An American Steamer Seized.

NEW YORK, September 11.—The Herald's Ottawa special says: A steamer belonging to an American was seized recently at Montreal on suspicion of being engaged by the Fenians.

It is thought in Canada that no raid will be attempted till about November.

The Late Fire at Sing Sing.

NEW YORK, September 11.—A Herald special says: Families who have been rendered homeless by the recent fire at Sing Sing have been provided for by the people of the village. A public meeting to raise money for them will be held at that place on Wednesday evening.

Dangerous Illness of Surgeon General Barnes.

NEW YORK, September 11.—The Herald's special says: Surgeon General Barnes is lying dangerously ill at Chicago, with congestive chills. But slight hopes are entertained of his recovery.

New Jersey Legislature.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Tribune learns that the Constitutional Amendment will pass the New Jersey Legislature to-day, and that Hon. L. G. Cattell will be elected to the United States Senate without opposition.

THE BEECHER LETTERS.

Statement of Horace Greeley.

NEW YORK, September 11.—The following statement, touching the recent Beecher letters, appears, over the full signature of Horace Greeley, in this morning's Tribune:

I was one of the many who early apprehended and anxiously deprecated a breach between Congress and the President. Soon after our last State election, and before the assembling of the present Congress, I went, not uninvited, to Washington expressly to guard against such a difference. Being admitted to an interview with the President, I urged him to call to Washington leading men of the most influential expositors of Northern anti-slavery sentiment, and three equally eminent and representative Southern ex-rebels, and ask them to take up their residence at the White House for a week, a fortnight, or so long as they might find it necessary, while they, by free and friendly conference and discussion, should earnestly endeavor to find a common ground whereon the North and the South should be not merely reconciled, but unite everme e fraternal and harmonious. I suggested the President should occasionally, as he could from time to time drop in on these conferences and offer such suggestions as he should deem fit, rather as a benevolent friend than as occupant of the Executive chair. A compact was entered promptly to the discussion. (A suggestion of names being invited I proposed those of Governor Andrew, Massachusetts, Gerrit Smith, New York, and Judge R. P. Spalding, Ohio, as three who seemed to me fair representatives of the anti slavery sentiment of the North, while neither specially obnoxious to nor disposed to deal harshly with Smith, and I added that I hoped they would be met by men like Gen. Robert E. Lee, Alexander H. Stevens, &c., who would be received and heeded by the South as men in whose hands her honor and true interests would be safe. But I added that if any special interest that they or any particular men should be elected, wishing only that those chosen from either section should be such as to command their people's confidence and support, and I pledged myself to support to the extent of my power any adjustment that should thus be matured and agreed upon. Some two months later, after the meeting of Congress, and when the political sky had become darker, I went to Washington on the assurance of a mutual friend that the Reverend Gentleman desired to see me. The Joint Committee on Reconstruction had then been appointed. At an interview promptly accorded, I urged the President to invite the Committee to the White House, and discuss with them from evening to evening as friends, all the phases of the grave problem of reconstruction with a fixed resolve to find a basis of agreement if possible. I regret such consideration as occurred to me in favor of the feasibility of such agreement if it were earnestly sought, as I feel sure it would be on the side of Congress, the vast patronage in the President's hands, the reluctance of the majority of Congress to see their friends, supporters and nominees expelled to make room for those in office, and their places supplied by bitter adversaries. The natural anxiety of every party in power to maintain cordial relations with the head of the government chosen by its votes. These, and a thousand kindred considerations rendered morally certain an agreement between Congress and the President, without a sacrifice of principles on either hand, if the latter should sincerely seek it. I speak only of what I said and proposed, because I have no permission and no right to speak further. That my suggestions were not listened to, nothing akin to them, the public sadly knows. And the conclusion to which I have been most reluctantly forced is that the President did not want harmony with Congress, that he had already made up his mind to break with the party which had elected him, and seek a further lease of power through the favor and support of its implacable enemies.

New York Democratic Convention—The Late Dean Richmond.

ALBANY, September 11.—At noon Tredell Hall was crowded with delegates and spectators; the Hall and stage were beautifully decorated with flags. Soon after 12 o'clock, the Convention was called to order by Peter Cagger, Secretary of the State Committee, on whose motion, by instruction of the State Committee, Samford E. Church, of New Orleans, was chosen temporary Chairman. On being conducted to the Chair, Mr. Church addressed the assembly. In the course of his remarks he said:

Standing on the rock of the Constitution, and by the side of that noble patriot and statesman Andrew Johnson, (Enthusiastic cheering, waving of hats &c.) under the protection of the old flag, will not a star dimmed or perfiled—(Cheers,)—and with the motto on equal rights and protection for all, we cannot fail to appeal with success to the people whose every interest is centered in the success of our cause. (Cheers.) The rolls of delegates were then called and it appeared that several County conventions were false. From Schuyler and Richmond, there were double delegations divided between Democrats and Conservative Republicans. It was announced that the delegates had agreed among themselves how their votes were to be cast.

A. H. Green offered the following with brief remarks, substitute of the day:

WHEREAS, Dean Richmond, an acknowledged leader of his party, and an eminent and patriotic citizen, has, by the mysterious providence of God, been suddenly removed from among us, and it is fit that suitable expression be made of our grief for his loss and respect for his character; therefore,

Resolved, That the members of this Convention, and the great party which it represents, deeply and sincerely mourn the death of Dean Richmond, who was one of the personal friend of each of them, and that they will cherish a grateful remembrance of his life, character and services.

Resolved, That the great abilities of the lamented deceased, his sagacity as a public counsellor, his spirit, enterprise and to nevolence as a man, his fidelity as a friend, his fervent patriotism and true attachment to the Constitution and the Union will deservedly secure for him the lasting memory and esteem of the whole people.

Resolved, That while the loss of such a man must at any time be a source of public grief and solicitude, it is by the circumstances of the hour rendered still more afflicting and, that the anxiety which even in his last hours and amid the premonitory pains of death, he expressed for the Democratic Hall Wright presided, and speeches were made by John Quincy Adams and Judge Abbott. Mr. Adams expressed the opinion that the Republicans in Congress would not pursue their policy of the last session, but would gradually recede, and the South is perpetual subjection. The party did not fear the South at all; it was the Democratic party of the North he feared.

Mr. Abbott followed in a talk to the same audience that remained.

New Jersey Legislature—Senator Cattell—The Amendment.

TRENTON, N. J. The Republican caucus has agreed unanimously upon the choice of Alexander G. Cattell, for United States Senator. The House has morally passed the Constitutional Amendment. The Senate also passed it to a third reading. The House has agreed to the Senate's other business, except the election of the United States Senator.

The President in Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, September 11—4 P. M.—The President and party have arrived in this city. Thousands upon thousands of people arrived early to greet them, and over one hundred and fifty thousand spectators were gathered in the streets to welcome the President, which they did with demonstrations of great joy and prolonged cheering. They were escorted through some of the principal streets by the military and civil associations. Flags were everywhere thrown to the breeze; also, devices of all kinds. The side walks were lined with persons of all sexes, and every window, door steps, porticoes, were thronged principally by ladies who waved their handkerchiefs to the passing excursionists. The President in an open carriage with Secretary Seward, Gen. Colwell, and Capt. Sherly was kept busily engaged in bowing to the excited multitudes. It was, indeed a gay time in Louisville, in which all the inhabitants seemed to participate. The stores having closed and all business suspended. The procession halted in front of the Court House and the distinguished guests were escorted to the balcony of Willard's Hotel, directly opposite the stand was profusely adorned with flags, and a motto was plainly in view, with the words "Hail to the Chief." Crowds of ladies and gentlemen were on the stand and balcony, presenting a gay and animated scene, while the streets were densely crowded. Hon. James Guthrie introduced the President in complimentary terms, briefly him a cordial welcome. The President spoke for a long time on the topics of the day, and was frequently cheered.

The return this part of the country are almost a total failure, and if rations are withdrawn by October 1st thousands must starve to death. I never saw a town of this size so dull. The schools in Stevenson, Alabama, have been opened through the whole summer. They have been and started and done well. The schools in Huntsville and Nashville, together with the Normal classes will be resumed in a few days. Urgent application for teachers and the opening of schools have been received from Maj. Gen. Kiddoo, in Texas, and from the superintendents of Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. Gen. Fisk always there are excellent openings for plantation schools. To meet these applications and carry on our work, additional funds are quite needed.

From every direction there comes to us the same earnest and pitiful testimony, as to yesterday, of the success of the schools, and the same intense desire for education. Can we pass by the cry of these poor people, ready to perish for want of knowledge? Contributions to what they can promptly. This is the proper season for the schools to commence and for us to put forth our best exertions. Further contributions will be gladly received

FINANCE AND TRADE.

TUESDAY, September 11, 1866.

The New York stock quotations to-day were as follows: Gold, 146@146½; Sixes, 1881's, Five Twenties, old, 110½; do, new, 108½; Ten-Forties, large, 98½; do small, 101; Seven Thirties, 1st series, 105⅝@105⅞; 2nd and 3rd series, 105⅝—106 for large, and 105½ for small bonds; Michigan Southern 85½; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 85; Fort Wayne, 101½; Erie, 70½; Western Union Telegraph Co., 36½; Chicago & Rock Island, 109; Chicago & Northwestern common, 35½; do preferred, 65¾.

It is now apparent that government securities, even under the clique manipulations, cannot be forced ad vel Ibitum, though even at a higher premium, they would pay six per cent interest. Railroad stocks find their limit when the earnings of the roads decline and government bonds must decline when political troubles are apprehended.

—The Philadelphia Press says:

The fall trade is gradually developing to its full strength, the present indications being that it will even surpass general expectation. Buyers are coming forward from the west and South quite rapidly, and it is noticed that their purchases are on a very liberal scale. The jobbing activity, so far, has mostly shown itself in the dry goods department. There is however, an average trade expected in every branch of our industry. The dry goods men appear to be jubilant with their prospects, and we heartily hope their expectations will be fully realized. Stocks in the interior are universally represented to be exhausted, or so much so that further delay for the variation of lower prices is looked upon as ruinous. As a rule, short time and cash are all that is proposed by purchasers, though some who come from a distance would like the old terms. The stock on hand is fair and the quality is very satisfactory. From the best information at command, we are inclined to think that the business season which has opened will continue longer than usual. Many who wish to purchase cannot do so because they have got control of the fall crops, and these cannot be obtained at once. Those who purchase now do so to some extent in the hope of securing a rise, and are probably enabling them themselves to purchase more heavily at a later day. This would of itself distribute the season over a longer term.

—The depression in the price of government bonds during the three or four days is ascribed to the reduction of the rate of discount by the Bank of England to 5 per cent. When the rate advanced to 7 per cent, and was followed by a rise, it was considered a good reason for the decline in the price of United States 5-20s in the London market, for the reason that the advance in the rate to that figure indicated scarcity of money. As the reduction of the rate one half favors the presumption that money is now much more abundant, it should not stock prices advance, and especially the prices of United States stocks. The latest quotation for 5-20s at London was 72¾ against nine o'clock on the previous day at 72¾.

—The Chicago Evening Journal, of Monday, reports money matters in that city, as follows:

Notwithstanding the falling torrents of rain business for the week in financial and commercial circles opens active, and generally of a satisfactory character to all concerned. There is a good, steady demand for money, and the banks, as a rule, accommodate all who are justly entitled to loans, but at the same time they refuse to discount anything except strictly first-class paper. Call loans, 7@8 per cent.

A prominent banker, in the course of his remarks to us to-day, said, "The money market is just as we like it to be, because we can well afford to pay liberal rates of interest to parties not considered strictly first-class. For the right kind of paper the current rate of interest is 10 per cent, but on the Street I and I½ per cent per month is freely paid.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
TUESDAY, Sept. 11, 1866. }

There is really but little that is new to say in regard to the produce markets. The receipts of Wheat and Flour are again increasing, and while the market is firm and somewhat excited, yet, so far, there has been no advance to correspond with the upward movement in the West. The general impression seems to be that there will be a reaction and possibly a panic, and that, too, before long, and operators are operating with caution, being apprehensive of "shakers ahead." In other lines, such as Provisions, Groceries, Oils and produce generally, there are no new features worthy of special mention.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain continue considerable in quantity, though not unchanged; sales in lots, of 2 cars Spring at $2,35 for No. 1, and $2,40 for No. 1 Extra. Corn is quiet and unchanged; sales of 1 car at 90c, and 1 do at 91c. Oats very dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand; sales of 1 car in track, at 58c; and 1 do at 59c. Nothing doing in Barley or Malt. Rye is also very dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand; sales of 1 car in track, at 98c; and 1 do at $1,00. Nothing doing in Buckwheat.

FLOUR—There is quite a good local demand, but as yet, no advance. We quote as follows: We continue to quote at $10,50 to $11,00 for Spring Wheat; $11,25 to $12 for half Spring and half Winter; and $12,50 to $13 per bbl for White Brands. PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
TUESDAY, Sept. 11, 1866. }

CRUDE—There is no improvement to note in the demand, and the market continues dull and inactive, though as yet, prices remain nominally unchanged at 15 to 16, bbls returned and 20 to 21, bbls included, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market. Buyers are still holding off in expectation of large arrivals and lower prices, but as yet, sellers, although anxious to realize, do not seem disposed to make any concessions in order to effect sales. At Oil City, the market is rather firmer, owing to the partial resumption of navigation; a telegram this afternoon quoted at $4,85 to $5 per bbl, which is no advance of from $5 to 10 cts, within the past few days.

REFINED—The movement in bonded oil continues very light, and operations are restricted by the fact that the offerings are very light, as well as to the extreme views of holders. We can report no sales for September, and 53, free on board cars here; and 1000 bbls for November delivery, in Philadelphia, buyer's option, at 48½. For immediate delivery in Philadelphia, 1000 bbls are reported sold at 45 to 47½, but these figures cannot be realized for November or December. Free Oil is dull, and as the distance is long, but few transactions are limit prime city brands may be quoted at 58 to 59.

RESIDUUM—May be quoted at $2,75 to $2,85.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSB'G GAZETTE, }
TUESDAY, Sept. 11, 1866. }

CATTLE.

The supply of cattle on sale this week was unusually light, not exceeding eight hundred head, and of this number only about seven hundred changed hands. The diminished offerings is owing to the fact that all the drovers of the Jewish persuasion have been observing holidays peculiar to that sect for three or four days past, and they were neither at the yards themselves on Monday nor had they any cattle to sell, consequently the operations in the market to themselves, but we are of the opinion that they did not profit much by the absence of their Jewish brethren, as the market was a very tame one, being quite dull, and devoid of life or animation, and prices were no better than last week, when nearly double the number of cattle were sold. Several retailing cattle, of which the supply was light, sold at from 8 to 6¾, while common and medium cattle may be quoted at from 6½ to 7½. Stock sold at from 5 to 6½.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The supply of Sheep was very light this week, and with a fair demand the market ruled firm, and prices were a fraction higher. We quote at 5 to 6¼ per pound gross, for fair to good, at which rates a drove of 200 head was retailed at from $4,20 to $4,50 per head. Lambs, also, were in limited supply, and a shade higher.

SWINE.

The retail demand is improving a little, but the transactions in the aggregate continue light. We continue to quote at $10 to 011 per cwt, gross, for fair to good.

SUNDRY SALES OF CATTLE.

Hilderbrand, of Beaver county, cattle at 6½ to 10 head of common cows and bulls at 6½ to 7; sold 10 head of fairish steers for Montreal at 6¾ to 7½; Quigley & Co. sold 25 head sometime cattle, averaging 950, to Keyser at 5, who subsequently retailed the same lot of cattle at 6½ to 6.

There is more demand for foreign exchange, and the market is steady at 108@108¼ for prime bankers bills. The gold market closed steadily at 145¾@145⅞.

There was a firmer feeling on the government securities this afternoon, and prices were generally about ½ per cent. better. The second and third series of the 7-30 notes are in good demand, under the impression that they will soon be funded into the 5-20 bonds. The closing prices were: 5-20 Coupons, 8s, 108¾@108¾; 10-40 Coupons, 98¾@98¾; July 7-30s, 106@106⅛ at the last open board.

Sales of cotton have not been large, and the receipts are scarce. The supplies from Europe have but little apparent effect upon the market. Under the current large demand for cottons, Foreign Exchange is in active demand, and the rates show more firmness. Brokers' prime, sixty days, is current at 108@108½; three days' sight, 109@109½.

The Post's money article says the loan market is an honest one. Stocks dull. Governments are firm. Railroad shares were quiet. After the Second New York call loans ruled at 7@7½, Hudson, 121; Michigan Central, 121; Illinois Central, 121.

	Flour.	Wheat.	Corn.	Barley.
1865	30,000	134,000	908,000	26,000
1866	19,000	164,000	1,280,000	700

The aggregate quantity of the same articles left at tidewater from the commencement of navigation to the 22nd August, inclusive, during the years 1865 and 1866, was as follows:
